

San Diego Science Festival: Science Expo – Overall Footprint

The San Diego Science Festival Science Expo proposes an event for April 4, 2009 that would utilize the following areas: the Botanical Garden lawns (both East and West), a portion of Village Place, the area around the fountain, and the Prado area extending from the fountain to the Lily Pond. Also requested for the purposes of parking in the Carousel parking lot. The areas would be utilized for hands-on interactive science displays by a variety of community groups, private companies, individuals, educational institutions and professional scientists. There will be no food sales and very limited vendor sales (science related only).